DEMAND GERMANY BE MADE TO SUFFER FOR SINKING CHILD SHIP

British Public Clamoring for Retaliation Against Nazis for Torpedoing Evacuee Liner With Loss Of Two Hundred and Six Adults and Eighty-Seven Children Six Hundred Miles at Sea

LONDON, Sept. 23 (CP).—Sinking of the child evacuee ship in mid-Atlantic has added impetus to the public clamor for intense bombing of German towns and cities in retaliation for the indiscriminate bombing of London and other barbarous acts of the Nazis.

During the last few days there has been an increasing demand among the people of London for reprisals against Berlin, Munich, Cologne and other German cities, but so far the Government has stood firm against it, because it believed the bomber strength of the Royal Air Force should be used against Hitler's invasion ports and against such military targets within Germany as oil refineries, transportation facilities and aircraft plants.

SHIP MILES AT SEA

LONDON, Sept. 23 (CP).—Two hundred and ninety-three children, including eighty-seven, were seeking haven in Canada from the horrors of war, perished when a German submarine torpedoed their ship without warning while it was riding an Atlantic storm 600 miles from land.

One hundred and thirteen survivors of the 406 persons aboard the Montreal-bound ship were landed at a northern port by a British warship after somehow living through many hours of tossing about by giant seas, chilled by hail and drenched by rain.

The explosion, which tore the ship at 10 p.m. last Tuesday, caused it

LATEST RETURN CUTS MAJORITY

Count of Ballots in Australian Election Gives Menzies Narrow Margin

MELBOURNE, Sept. 23 (AP).—Indications tonight pointed to a majority of five in the House of Representatives by the Government supporters of R. G. Menzies, as a result of Saturday's general election. This is just half the majority held by Mr. Menzies after the 1937 voting.

This reckoning, however, is not final, pending completion of the primary count and the distribution of preferences. The Australian voting system of proportional representation. This will not be possible until soldiers' votes are received from overseas.

From present indications, the Ministerialists (Government supporters) will have forty seats, of which the United Australia party appear to have clinched twenty-five.

The country party, fourteen, and Independents, one. The Opposition is expected to have thirty-four, including official Labor, thirty-one. Non-Communist Labor, three. After providing a Speaker, the Government would thus have a majority of five.

If the Government also wins the Senate election, as is indicated by incomplete returns, it will have a majority of two, with thirteen seats against seventeen Labor, representing a gain of one seat by Labor.

Laborites are seeking to find another seat for their leader, John Curtin, whose chance of election appeared almost negligible.

Conflict May Spread Soon To Near East

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Sept. 23 (AP).—The Turkish Ambassador to Rome Huseyin Raghib, arrived for a conference with Government leaders today amidst Turkish concern that war may spread to Syria and the Near East in the wake of Rome-Berlin axis parleys.

No official reason was given for the ambassador's return.

The newspaper Tan charged today that German and Italian agents seek to "create trouble in Syria."

"We cannot overlook this threat," it said, "and never will allow a change in the status quo of Syria until the end of the war."

Once London Hospital

Two London Nurses Gaze in Dismay at the Heap of Rubble and Broken Stone Which Had Been a Wing of Their Hospital. One German Bomb Reduced the Structure to Useless Wreckage.

Small Groups of Planes in Night Attack on London

Most of Raiders Unload Bombs Over Outer Districts, Due to Heavy Barrage of Gunfire—Two Banks, One Postoffice and Apartment Building Among the Structures Hit

LONDON, Sept. 24 (CP).—Nazi planes flying alone or in small groups harried London in another night-long attack which also extended over a wide area of Britain. Many bombs were dropped in London last night and early today and planes were reported over a Welsh town, the Midlands, the Northwest, Northeast, Southwest and Southeast.

One Heinkel bomber was shot down in Surrey this morning. During yesterday, eleven German planes were shot down. British losses were the same number, but seven R.A.F. pilots parachuted to safety.

The raiders over London, who were harassed by terrific anti-aircraft fire, dropped Molotov bread-baskets and calcium carbide bombs which light up the ground after exploding.

Most of the raiders unloaded their cargoes over the outer districts of London. There were bombs dropped in the south and east of the capital and in one central district.

Two planes caught in searchlights were subjected to a severe storm of anti-aircraft fire. "Flaming onions" and shells of all calibres were seen to burst around them. Tremendous explosions followed as the planes jettisoned their loads.

The planes came over at intervals but there were only brief lulls between the flight of one and the arrival of another. Guns viciously pumped shells at the raiders and time after time they swerved and raised a wall of fire.

A high explosive bomb dropped in a Northwest London district damaged two banks, a postoffice and a modern apartment building.

ESCAPE FROM PRAIRIE CAMP

Two Germans Gain Freedom From Internment Centre During Rainstorm

CALGARY, Sept. 23 (CP).—Police continued their search tonight for trace of two German prisoners who escaped from a Prairie internment camp yesterday.

Officers and soldiers joined in the search for Irwin Hartman, twenty, and Alfred Schoenberg, thirty-four, who fled from the camp wearing regulation internment camp uniforms of white cotton trousers, blue denim jacket with a red circle on the back and blue ski caps.

Hartman worked in the canteen yesterday but was missing at 6 p.m. He escaped during a heavy rainstorm, presumably between noon, when he was seen during lunch, and roll call at 6 p.m.

NO TRACE OF MEN
An immediate search of camp buildings failed to disclose any sign of the missing men.

This morning absence of Schoenberg was discovered but it is thought possible he may have escaped with Hartman, and his absence not discovered until today.

Both prisoners speak good English and were recently transferred from Eastern prison camps. Both were picked up in Canada and held as civilian alien prisoners.

From Europe Day by Day

THE TIMES, London
News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province.

(Copyright, 1940, by Southern Co.)
LONDON, Sept. 23 (By Cable).—Angling for Spain as an ally of Germany and Italy has continued in Berlin and Rome but so far, says The Times' diplomatic correspondent, without the wished-for success.

Spanish comment suggests that Senor Suner went to Berlin on behalf of Franco merely as a leader of the Palanque party and not to commit the Spanish Government to the Axis powers. The German radio has modified its prophecies about Spanish intentions, but Italian newspapers continue to assert that the alignment of Italy, Germany and Spain against Britain is imminent.

Describing the latest Nazi atrocity, that of the murder of British children en route to Canada, The Times says the brutal and barbarous slaughter, drawing no distinction between combatant and non-combatant, and not sparing the innocent and inoffensive children, is a mark of German determination in the war by sea, air and land.

Not even the blasting of people from their homes by aerial torpedoes can deaden the sensitiveness of feeling to this atrocity of the torpedo launched through the dark and tempestuous sea.

The Egyptian Cabinet has split on the ground that the Government has not carried out its undertaking to declare war if Italy invaded Egypt.

Premier Hassan Pasha Sabry takes the view that occupation by Italian troops of sixty miles of waterless desert is a matter of no consequence, says the Cairo correspondent of The Times. If, however, the advance should continue, then the Government will defend the country to the fullest extent.

The Nazis are now trying to bribe the Japanese Government into helping them in their plans for world domination. The Japanese are beginning to realize that the Anglo-American agreement to prevent aggression in the Pacific and use by the United States of the Singapore naval base would adversely affect their plans for control of Eastern Asia and expansion in the Pacific.

UNDER MARTIAL LAW IN EGYPT

Premier Issues Decree—British Warships Bombard Italians

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 23 (CP).—Premier Hassan Pasha Sabry today declared martial law in Egypt as a "defence measure" because of the quickening of the Mediterranean war in Africa and the Near East.

The Royal Air Force raided Italian positions, while a naval communiqué said a fleet of warships attacked Italian positions off the newly-occupied Sidi Barrani, Egypt, "with good results early on Sunday."

It was the second naval bombardment of the area, sixty miles inside the Egyptian frontier, in an effort to disorganize Italian preparations for a further advance across the desert.

The proclamation of martial law in Egypt was in line with the Government's determination to defend the Nile Valley should Italians approach that home of nearly all Egyptians. The country has been under a "state of siege" since September 1, 1939.

WOULD FORCE ISSUE
It was reported that Ahmed Maher, leader of the Saadist Party, "was attempting to bring the question of war or peace to an issue before Parliament next week."

Four Saadist members of the Cabinet resigned Saturday over refusal of the Premier to entertain a declaration of war now.

The Saadists, however, must first induce the Premier to consent to a special session in order to get the issue before Parliament.

Saadists who resigned from the Cabinet said in a letter that the Italians' "penetration of Egyptian territory and attempts to fortify themselves there leaves no doubt of their decision to conquer it, contrary to Mussolini's declaration that he has no intention of aggression against Egypt."

FRATERNAL DELEGATE LOST LIFE ON SHIP

LONDON, Sept. 23 (CP).—W. G. Gough, president of the Northumberland and Durham Association, who was en route to attend the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress meeting at Vancouver, was among the victims of the torpedoed evacuee ship, it was learned today.

Mr. Gough was to have represented the British Trades Union Congress.

BRITISH BOMB BERLIN FACTORY AREA; INVASION PORTS POUNDED

Taking In the Milk After Bombing

NAZI bombs paid this London householder a visit during the night, but he reaches for the milk in the morning, with true British nonchalance.

DAKAR UNDER BRITISH FIRE

Naval Squadron Accompanies General De Gaulle to West African Capital

VICHY, France, Sept. 23 (AP).—Big guns of a British naval squadron, accompanied by Gen. Charles De Gaulle, it was announced here, shelled the French West African capital of Dakar today, preparatory to landing an Anglo-French expeditionary force.

The Petain Government of unoccupied France announced the warships shelled the port for eight hours, but heavy fog at night prevented a landing for the present.

The Government predicted such a thrust and said it would strengthen its request to the German Armistice Commission not to disarm the African colonies.

It was stated here that the British squadron consisted of two battleships, four cruisers, several destroyers and four transports filled with troops ready to move into West Africa.

The bombardment began at 2:15 p.m., and continued past 10 p.m.

(An official statement in London said that "a considerable element" of the West African population opposed the Vichy Government's policy of subservience to Berlin and had declared in favor of a Free France.

General De Gaulle went to Dakar with a Free French force to assist his supporters. It was added, "He arrived off Dakar this morning and has summoned his followers to rally to the flag of Free France."

It was a British bulletin, "Resistance seems to have been encountered, but the situation is not as yet fully clear."

General De Gaulle's French force is accompanied by a British force which will lend him full support.

Trapped in the harbor—the only one in West Africa which can receive large ships—were three French cruisers and three destroyers—reported to have had a brush with a British force at sea on Monday.

RADIO STATION HIT
The Dakar radio station was hit but continued operating, and there were undetermined casualties.

The number and size of the British force were not disclosed.

R.A.F. Strikes Telling Blow at Aluminum Plant—Nazis Admit Four-Hour Raid That Sent Millions to Shelters—Tons of Explosives Dumped On German-Held Coast

Hitler's Long-Range Guns Fail to Stop Air Attacks

BERLIN, Sept. 24 (AP).—Low-flying British planes subjected Berlin to its longest air raid, lasting almost four hours, early today, dropping bombs in mid-town despite the heaviest anti-aircraft barrage yet thrown up here.

One fire glowed in the sky toward Moabit in Northwestern Berlin, which is a region of factories. Authorities did not estimate the number of raiders, but claimed few succeeded in penetrating the city's outer defences.

MILLIONS TAKE TO SHELTERS
Millions huddled in shelters underground heard the defence batteries pounding and the hum of motors above.

Tracer bullets streaked into the sky amid bursting shrapnel, but apparently none of the attacking planes were brought down as they flew incessantly over the city.

Searchlights were used sparingly in the defence. The alarm lasted three hours and forty-seven minutes.

There were no immediate reports of damages.

ASSAULT ON COASTLINE
LONDON, Sept. 23 (AP).—British airmen, dodging shells fired two miles out over the sea by new German coastal batteries, reported the whole Nazi-held coast from Calais to Flushing was "lit up like a front at Blackpool" by a vigorous Royal Air Force assault on Hitler's "invasion ports" last night and today with tons of explosive and incendiary bombs.

The attacks were aimed chiefly at the German coastal bases, although the Air Ministry announced other telling blows were delivered against a large aluminum plant at Lautau, 100 miles southeast of Berlin, where fires were started, and other military targets at Dresden and in The Netherlands far inland.

(The Lautau plant apparently was the "important military objective" reported hit in an earlier Air Ministry bulletin).

FREIGHT TRAINS HIT
Two freight trains were blasted by a direct hit near Dresden and more bombs were dumped on railway sidings in the same area.

Amplifying the bulletin, the Air Ministry news service said one pilot dropped two sticks of explosives on the Lautau plant and that numerous fires sprang up immediately.

Only two of the Lautau raiders were able to get through a gap in the clouds to unload their cargoes, the account said.

Another pilot taking advantage of the same gap reported he could see a big fire through the clouds fifteen minutes after he left the target area," the news bulletin added.

A railway serving the works also was bombed. One of the attackers was hampered by the clouds and he was unable to find his primary objective, but he bombed a railroad junction at Torgau instead. Four fires broke out and a goods shed was seen collapsing.

STRENGTHEN DEFENCES
"In an attempt to escape the full force of the R.A.F.'s night attack on Channel ports and to lessen the amount of damage which is being done to docks, shipping and equipment, the Germans have recently strengthened their defences. Last night there were many more light and heavy guns in action. Shellfire from coastal guns followed our bombers out to sea for a distance of two miles."

Despite these new weapons, the Air Ministry announced every one of the British planes came home safely.

In most of the raids, the British pilots attacked "independently but in quick succession."

One pilot who had Ostend as his objective, reported "others had been there before us, and soon after we."

LORD WILLINGDON TO HEAD MISSION

Former Governor-General of Canada to Visit South American Countries Soon

LONDON, Sept. 23 (CP).—The Marquess of Willingdon, former Governor-General of Canada, will head a diplomatic and economic mission to South America about the middle of October, it was announced today by Harcourt Johnson, secretary to the Department of Overseas Trade.

The mission will visit Brazil, Uruguay, Argentina, Chile, Peru, Bolivia, Ecuador, Colombia and Venezuela. It will have the double object of promoting British trade and explaining to those nations the necessity of imposing the blockade against their trade with Europe.

The trade mission "has been fully explained in Washington, and it has their approval and sympathy," it was announced.

KILLED IN CRASH
KANSAS CITY, Sept. 23 (AP).—At least three persons including the pilot, were believed killed in a training plane which crashed late today in a wooded thicket in the northeast industrial district.

LONDON SHELTERS BEING IMPROVED
Million Bunks to Be Constructed—Other Comforts to Be Added in Stations

LONDON, Sept. 23 (CP).—Construction of 1,000,000 bunks in London's air raid shelters and distribution of ear plugs to all people in the metropolitan area was announced by the Government today.

William Mabane, Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Home Security, announced acceleration of the air raid shelter construction programme and the commandeering of "shelters" in industrial and commercial establishments for the use of the public.

All shelters will be kept open twenty-four hours seven days a week.

In addition to bunks, sanitary appliances will be placed in shelters, and first-aid posts established. The bunks will be double or treble bunks.

Labor Parliament of Canada Condemns Enemy for Brutality

Condemnation of Germany and Italy, Accompanied By Hope for Empire Victory, Adopted at Trades Convention in Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Sept. 23 (P).—The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, voice of some 175,000 Canadian workers across the Dominion, opened its fifty-sixth annual convention here today in a spirit of wartime co-operation and began working through the long list of resolutions to be dealt with in the week-long sessions.

Seven resolutions were passed at the afternoon session with little of the heated discussion that has marked many previous conventions of the congress.

A Quebec Provincial Federation of Labor resolution, which passed, asked the Federal Government to maintain the eight-hour day in the war industries in three shifts, and to recommend that the heads of the war industries co-operate with organized labor for the protection of the workers.

Another Quebec resolution, also endorsed, put the congress on record as opposed to "prison labor competing with free labor." Delegates also affirmed another Quebec resolution requesting the various Provincial Governments to compel every employer to give annual holidays with pay to all employees of more than twelve months' service.

The congress endorsed a Winnipeg resolution asking the Federal Government to implement a soon as possible the main points of the Royal Commission report on Dominion-Provincial Relations.

Another Winnipeg resolution, asking a scheme whereby the farmers of the Prairie provinces would be given an advance of at least 40 cents a bushel on grain stored on their farms, was referred to the incoming executive. The resolutions committee endorsed the principle of the resolution, but felt it was not a question for the trade unions.

DICTATOR CONDEMNED

A note of condemnation for Germany and Italy ran through the entire session. Delegates heard the axis powers and Russia described as "a combination of brutality prompted solely by lust for power and actuated by means of gangsterism." In a greeting from the International Photo Engravers' Union of America, the description, along with the expressed hope for an Empire victory in the war, was adopted in the form of a resolution at the engravers' recent convention in Washington, D.C., and sent to the congress meeting.

In his address at the opening of the session, Tom Moore, of Ottawa, president of the congress almost continuously for twenty-two years, told the delegates that Canadian labor was "prepared to step in with wise counsel for an honest peace and freedom based on justice," and loyalty to the country in the prosecution of the war.

MURDER AT SEA

Leut. Governor Eric W. Hamber of British Columbia and Hon. George Pearson, Provincial Minister of Labor, also spoke. Mr. Hamber described the torpedoing of a British evacuee liner with the loss of 293 lives as "murder at sea," and said it was the "most brutal thing that has happened in this war."

Mr. Pearson praised the congress for its fine leadership, which he said was an all-important factor.

Hon. Norman McLarty, Dominion Minister of Labor, sent a greeting by telegram from Ottawa, expressing his regret at being unable to attend the sessions owing to the press of wartime business.

DAKAR UNDER BRITISH FIRE

ish ships were not reported, but French Government sources claimed they were packed with British troops ready for an effort to wrest the colony from France.

The French Foreign Minister, Paul Baudouin, who announced the battle, said France would not declare war on her former ally, but that she would "reply to force with force."

The shelling of Dakar, the Vichy Government charged, took place after Governor-General Pierre Boisson, of French West Africa, refused De Gaulle's demand to surrender the colony.

IS IMPORTANT CENTRE

Dakar itself is considered an important prize. Best port on the West African coast, it is at Cape Verde, most westerly point of Africa, and commands the sea route from Europe to Brazil.

A city of 34,000, with 3,000 whites, it is linked to interior African points by rail and to France by cable.

Dakar already has figured in the growing friction between France and Britain. Last July 8, after the armistice had ended French resistance to Germany, and after the Battle of Oran, British air and naval forces raided Dakar Harbor to assault the new French battleship Richelieu.

The Richelieu was put out of action by aerial torpedoes and by depth bombs dropped from a motorboat.

MOTHER ON LOST SHIP

VANCOUVER, Sept. 23 (P).—W. S. Campbell, teacher at Vancouver Technical School, was notified by the British Admiralty today that his mother, Mrs. Helen Campbell, a passenger on the ship torpedoed by a German submarine September 17, is missing and presumed dead. She was a former resident of Union Bay.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just sits in the bowels, causing gas, bloating, and constipation. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, and the world looks pink.

A more bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those poisons of bile flowing freely and make you feel the little row freely. They do the work for you, but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. It liberally refuses anything else, too.

Rescued From Kidnapper

Three-year-old Marc de Tristan, son of Count and Countess Marc de Tristan, was rescued Sunday from the clutches of a kidnapper who was holding the child for $100,000 ransom. The boy was out with his nurse near his home in Hillsborough, Cal., when he was abducted.

Travelers Believe Liner Bombed With Deliberate Intent

Eye-Witnesses of Occurrence Near Japanese Port In Which Empress of Asia Was Hit Claim Accident Story Is Far-Fetched

TRAVELERS who were aboard the Ss. Empress of Asia when the big Canadian Pacific liner was hit by a bomb, dropped from a Japanese plane, as she was about to enter the port of Yokohama recently, arrived in Victoria over the week-end and without exception a number of them, asked to say something about the occurrence, stated that the "test" bombs were dropped with deliberate intent.

One eyewitness (there were not many on deck at the lunch hour when it happened) who saw the plane as it circled round above the ship and dropped its "stick" of eight bombs, said there could be no mistake as the sky was clear above and the plane not more than 7,000 feet up.

At the time the Asia was hit, there were four other vessels in the vicinity, all heading for the Japanese port, and there was no sign of a target ship anywhere about. All eight bombs dropped near the Asia, but only one direct hit was scored, this shell tearing jagged holes through three steel decks of the liner and stopping about the concrete floor of the galley, seriously injuring one Chinese and inflicting lighter injuries on three other galley boys.

SAW BOMBS DROP

A Shanghai passenger said he saw a number of bombs drop into the water round the ship. "I was going into the dining-room for lunch when I heard something crash into the water," he said. "I ran up on deck and kept moving along a passageway from one side of the ship to another, and saw six or seven bombs drop into the sea about thirty yards from the Asia, on both sides toward the stern. I heard a dull explosion as one hit the ship."

"There was no panic at all—in fact most of the passengers were at lunch and didn't know what it was all about. The ship zig-zagged immediately and the boat crew went to their stations," he continued.

"After the bombs stopped I went out and had a look at the plane. It was circling about over the ship about 5,000 feet up. I should judge, it seemed to me that the bombing must have been deliberate—there was no reason why it should be otherwise. The visibility was perfect and our ship could not be mistaken."

"If it wasn't intentional, I don't know what it could be," a passenger from Hongkong declared. "I didn't see the bombs fall as I was having lunch, but others who did told me the plane was about six or seven thousand feet up and dropped seven or eight bombs. From the dining-room it just sounded like a number of dull thuds. But we didn't know what had happened until it was all over. Then there was some slight apprehension afterwards, but everybody took it pretty calmly on the whole."

JAPANESE IN TWO FIGHTS

pation of Indo-China, but there was no indication China would carry out a second thrust to march into the French colony as a counter-move.

The newspapers described the agreement as representing "maximum French concessions without compensating features," and branded Japan's guarantee of Indo-China's territorial integrity as "utterly worthless."

SIoux CITY, Iowa, Sept. 23 (P).—Mother Gertrude, seventy-nine, head of the Order of Benedictine Nuns, died here Saturday. One of the most dramatic episodes of her early life was a conference in behalf of the United States Government with Chief Sitting Bull at his camp the day before he and his tribe were wiped out by cavalrymen.

It was the fifth bomb released by the Japanese plane, ten or twelve thousand feet above the Empress of Asia, in the opinion of the planter, that crashed through three decks on the starboard side and exploded in the galley, injuring four Chinese.

"It was 1:15 o'clock as the ship was two hours and a half out of Yokohama that the bombing took place," he continued. "It was just as good marksmanship as ever I've seen. The farthest bomb landed no more than a few yards from the ship. They seemed to be trying for the wireless room as all the bombs with the exception of one, landed forward."

"Visibility must have been perfect for the plane, although it was difficult for us to see him as the first bomb splashed into the water on the starboard side. Two others fell on each side of the ship, which did not reply with her guns. The fourth fell forward, showering the forecastle peak with water."

THREE OTHERS CLOSE

Then the fifth bomb, which the planter thought contained either fire or high explosive, struck the big ship. The other three fell dangerously close.

This passenger stated that the whole affair took about half an hour, for he said that he had time to go to his stateroom, gather some personal effects and a lifebelt before returning to the deck.

There was no alarm whatever, the planter, who was born in Scotland, told a reporter. "I must take my hat off to the stewards, crew and entire ship's personnel—they were wonderful."

The chief officer called for the fire crew, and they were on the scene within a minute and a half. There was no panic among the passengers, with the exception of a Russian girl who fainted.

The wireless men stuck to their job and finally contacted the shore. Shortly afterwards two large bombing planes flew out and escorted us in to Yokohama."

KIDNAPPED CHILD SAFE

German-Held for Abduction Of Marc de Tristan in California

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23 (P).—A lad who saw his young brother kidnapped in Tacoma four years ago by a man, who later killed the child, flew to San Francisco today to see if Wilhelm Jakob Muhlenbroch, if Wilhelm Jakob Muhlenbroch, held in the De Tristan abduction, resembled that man.

William Mattson was accompanied by a Federal agent on the plane trip. He was sixteen that day in Christmas week, 1936, when a swarthy foreigner with a hump-nose slipped into the house, snatched ten-year-old Charles Mattson and left a ransom note demanding $28,000.

The family never saw Charles alive again. Fifteen days later his nude, beaten body was found in a snowbank. The ransom was not paid because the family could not get in touch with the abductor.

ALL SHARE SACRIFICES

Nearer home, in the British Commonwealth of Nations itself, the struggle of the Mother Country has been made the struggle of the whole family. From every part of it, men and material are coming in increasing flow, and there is an eagerness to share in the sacrifices which will bring us victory.

In this battle for Britain, London, the mighty capital of the Empire, occupies the forefront. Others of our cities are being subjected to the barbarous attacks of the enemy. Our sympathy goes out to them all. But it is London that is, for the time being, bearing the brunt of the enemy's spite.

I am speaking to you now from Buckingham Palace with its honorable scars, to Londoners first of all, though of course my words apply equally to all the British cities, towns and hamlets, who are enduring the same dangers.

The Queen and I have seen many of the places here which have been most heavily bombed, and many of the people who have suffered and are suffering most. Our hearts are with them tonight. Their courage and cheerfulness, their faith in their country's cause and final victory are an inspiration to the rest of us to persevere.

In announcing Muhlenbroch's arrest last night, the F.B.I. said he entered the United States from Vancouver, B.C.

Hedley Tuff, Vancouver barber, said today Muhlenbroch worked for him from 1931 to 1935. He knew the man as "Will Mullen."

sion of the cross to permit its award to members of the fighting services, who have performed acts within the terms of the warrant.

The George Medal, also announced by the King today, will be granted more freely and ranks with medals awarded for gallantry and distinguished conduct.

The standard will be high. Admiral of the Fleet Lord Chatfield was appointed to supervise the awards.

The King, in announcing the cross and medal in his Empire broadcast, said:

TEXT OF BROADCAST

Following is the text of the King's broadcast to his people today:

It is just over a year now since the war began. The British people entered it with open eyes recognizing how formidable were the forces against them, but confident in the justice of their cause.

Much has happened since September, 1939. Great nations have fallen. The battle, which was at that time so far away that we could only hear its distant rumblings, is now at our very doors. The armies of invasion are massed across the Channel, only twenty miles from our shores. The air fleets of the enemy launch their attack, day and night, against our cities. We stand in the front line, to champion those liberties and traditions that are our heritage.

As we brace ourselves for the battle—there is much to encourage us. We have with us brave contingents from the forces of our Allies. We have behind us the good will of all who love freedom. Our friends in the Americas have shown us this in many ways, not least by their gifts for the relief of suffering in this war.

Following is the text of the King's broadcast to his people today:

It is just over a year now since the war began. The British people entered it with open eyes recognizing how formidable were the forces against them, but confident in the justice of their cause.

Much has happened since September, 1939. Great nations have fallen. The battle, which was at that time so far away that we could only hear its distant rumblings, is now at our very doors. The armies of invasion are massed across the Channel, only twenty miles from our shores. The air fleets of the enemy launch their attack, day and night, against our cities. We stand in the front line, to champion those liberties and traditions that are our heritage.

As we brace ourselves for the battle—there is much to encourage us. We have with us brave contingents from the forces of our Allies. We have behind us the good will of all who love freedom. Our friends in the Americas have shown us this in many ways, not least by their gifts for the relief of suffering in this war.

ALL SHARE SACRIFICES

Nearer home, in the British Commonwealth of Nations itself, the struggle of the Mother Country has been made the struggle of the whole family. From every part of it, men and material are coming in increasing flow, and there is an eagerness to share in the sacrifices which will bring us victory.

In this battle for Britain, London, the mighty capital of the Empire, occupies the forefront. Others of our cities are being subjected to the barbarous attacks of the enemy. Our sympathy goes out to them all. But it is London that is, for the time being, bearing the brunt of the enemy's spite.

I am speaking to you now from Buckingham Palace with its honorable scars, to Londoners first of all, though of course my words apply equally to all the British cities, towns and hamlets, who are enduring the same dangers.

The Queen and I have seen many of the places here which have been most heavily bombed, and many of the people who have suffered and are suffering most. Our hearts are with them tonight. Their courage and cheerfulness, their faith in their country's cause and final victory are an inspiration to the rest of us to persevere.

In announcing Muhlenbroch's arrest last night, the F.B.I. said he entered the United States from Vancouver, B.C.

Hedley Tuff, Vancouver barber, said today Muhlenbroch worked for him from 1931 to 1935. He knew the man as "Will Mullen."

The George Medal, also announced by the King today, will be granted more freely and ranks with medals awarded for gallantry and distinguished conduct.

BRING NEW REDOWN

To the men and women who carry on the work of air raids precautions services, I should like to say a special word of gratitude. The devotion of these civil workers, firemen, salvage men and many others in the face of grave and constant danger has won a new renown for the British name.

These men and women are worthy partners of our armed forces and our police, of the navy, of the army and the Home Guard, alert and eager to repel any invader, and of the Air Force, whose exploits are the wonder of the world.

Tonight, indeed, we are a nation on guard and in line. Each task, each bit of duty done, however simple and domestic it may be, is part of our war work. It takes rank with the sailor's duty, the soldier's and the airman's duty. The men and women in the factories or on the railways, who work on regardless of danger, though the sirens have sounded, maintaining life and keeping the fighting line well supplied with weapons, earn their place among the heroes of this war.

No less honor is due to those, who night after night uncomplainingly endure discomfort, hardship and peril in their homes and shelters.

ANNOUNCES GEORGE CROSS

Many and glorious are the deeds of gallantry done during these perilous and famous days. In order that they should be worthily and promptly recognized, I have decided to create at once a new mark of honor for men and women in all walks of civilian life. I propose to give my name to this new distinction, which will consist of the George Cross, ranking next to the Victoria Cross, and the George Medal for wider distribution.

As we looked around us we see on every side that in the hour of her trial the Mother City of the British Commonwealth is providing herself to be built as a city that is at unity with itself. It is not the walls that make the city but the people who live within them. The walls of London may be battered, but the spirit of the Londoner stands resolute and undimmed.

As in London, so throughout Britain, buildings rich in beauty and historic interest may be wantonly attacked. Humble houses, no less dear and familiar, may be destroyed. But "There'll Always Be An England" to stand before the world as the symbol and citadel of freedom, and to be our dear home.

TO SORROWING PARENTS

And here I would like to tell the sorrowing parents how deeply we grieve for them in the loss of their young ones in the ship torpedoed without warning in mid-Atlantic. Surely the world could have no clearer proof of the wickedness against which we fight than this foul deed.

We live in grim times, and it may be that the future will be grimmer yet. Winter lies before us—cold and dark. But let us be of good cheer. After Winter comes Spring, and after our present trials will assuredly come victory and a release from these evil things. Let us then put our trust, as I do, in God, and in the unconquerable spirit of the British people.

Bar Members Extend Sincere Welcome to New Appeal Justice

Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald Receives Glowing Tribute From Barristers on Taking Seat for First Time in the Highest Court

MEMBERS of the bar gathered in the Court of Appeal chamber yesterday morning to pay their respects to Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald, who took his seat for the first time as a member of the highest court of British Columbia.

Sincere congratulations to His Lordship on appointment to the Court of Appeal were extended by W. C. Moresby, K.C., treasurer of the Law Society of British Columbia.

Mr. Moresby recalled that His Lordship had upheld the best traditions of the bench in the many courtesies he extended while a justice of the Supreme Court. He also recollected the wise counsel he had brought to bear while a member of the Law Society of British Columbia.

LONG EXPERIENCE

H. J. Davis, representing the Victoria Bar Association, thought it most fitting that His Lordship's long experience would be brought to bear in the highest court. He assured him of members' affection, respect and esteem.

Alfred Bull, K.C., representing the Vancouver Bar Association, thought that the bar and the Court of Appeal were to be congratulated on having a member with the experience of His Lordship.

Harry W. Colgan, representing Vancouver junior members of the bar, recalled that many had obtained tuition and inspiration from His Lordship. Hearty good wishes and the hope of a long career were extended by Roy Manzer, on behalf of Victoria junior members of the bar.

In reply, Mr. Justice McDonald declared that it was difficult for him to express in public his appreciation of the friendly manner in which barristers had received his appointment.

"Time alone can tell how this experiment will turn out. A man can live but only one day at a time," Mr. Justice McDonald said.

He gave a brief humorous outline of the appointment of Inner Court, Justice and the Lord President and Lord Justice Clerk in Scotland. In conclusion, he referred to the warm and brotherly welcome from mem-

Benefit Racing Still Barred by Federal Warrant

DESPITE Provincial action by order in council, which would have waived the provisions of the Horse Racing Regulations Act to permit an extra day's racing at the Willows track on Wednesday, September 25, in aid of the Lord Mayor's fund at London, the proposed benefit day remained cancelled without Federal sanction. Officials of the Colwood Park Association, Ltd., explained that the Province had removed all Provincial barriers, but that Dominion limitation of race meets to fourteen days at a time still blocked the move.

Chief Justice M. A. Macdonald expressed pleasure at securing the benefit of the learning and judicial experience of Mr. Justice McDonald.

Police said that when Borisovich refused the man a drink, he drew a nickel-plated revolver, fired and fled.

Accompanied by Brig. C. V. Stockwell, D.O.C., Col. H. M. Urquhart, colonel of the regiment, and Major F. G. Morse, who came West with him on the inspection tour, General Griesbach arrived at Macaulay Point at 9:30 a.m., and inspected the battalion en masse, stopping to chat with old soldiers and examining the troops on their knowledge of military matters as he proceeded.

Later in the afternoon General Griesbach continued his tour of inspection of forts in this area, visiting Fort Macaulay, Golf Hill and Ogden Point. This morning he will inspect the 2nd Battalion, The Canadian Scottish Regiment, in camp at Colwood, and in the afternoon will confer with Brigadier Stockwell at his headquarters at Work Point.

Tomorrow General Griesbach will go to Nanaimo, and from there to York Island. He will return to Victoria at the end of the week, and will leave for Vancouver on Sunday. From there he will go to Prince Rupert before returning to his headquarters in Edmonton.

The inspection was followed by a march past in column of route, General Griesbach taking the salute at the saluting base. The inspector-general had luncheon in the officers' mess, and after the midday interval the troops continued their training while General Griesbach inspected the quartermaster's stores and other establishments.

WITH SERVICE FORTY YEARS

Charles H. French, Hudson's Bay Company Fur Commissioner, Dies

Charles H. French, an old and valued servant of the Hudson's Bay Company, who at the time of his retirement ten years ago held the office of fur trade commissioner and chief factor for the whole Dominion, died on Sunday night at the Jubilee Hospital, following many months' illness.

Born in Markham, near Toronto, Ontario, on July 23, 1867, Mr. French joined the Hudson's Bay Company at Lower Fort Garry, in 1891, as dog-driver, and between that time and his retirement in December, 1930, rose to the highest offices in the gift of the company. In the ten years he lived in Victoria he continued, as a private citizen, to contribute to the community much of that kindness, humor and friendly character which made him popular with all the Hudson's Bay Company's employees, and the many wide contacts with which he had associated as a servant of the company.

Among the various organizations where he gave valuable service were the B.C. Historical Association, of which he was president for a time, and to which he gave many valuable talks rich in historical interest; the Rotary Club, of which he was a past president; the Automobile Club, the Children's Aid Society, the

For a short period he was postmaster at Blaine, in 1902 was promoted to the position of fur buyer at Victoria. His success was such that in 1914 he was entrusted with the management of the British Columbia district. In 1921 he was sent to Vancouver, remaining there until his promotion, six years later, to chief factor and fur trade commissioner, with headquarters at Winnipeg.

The Northern Fur Trader, in an editorial at the time of Mr. French's retirement in December, 1930, paid him the very highest tribute, referring to him as "a great Canadian who had well earned his laurels," and forecasting that he would still make great contributions to whatever community he decided to choose for his home.

His retirement marks the passing from business life of a man who is entitled to more than a passing salute. To those who understand the wide gulf between the position where Mr. French began in his company's service and the high office from which he now retires, the

Fourth Session Will Open Here On October 29

THE fourth session of the Nineteenth Legislature will be summoned into action on October 29, Premier Pattullo announced at his office yesterday. The budget for 1940-41, some special legislation addressed to emergent times, and a short session occupying all of November and possibly the first week in December, are anticipated. From present indications, the party standing in the House will be unchanged. Manfred McGeer (Liberal) leading Grant MacNeill (C.C.F.) by 449 ballots in official returns yesterday for twenty-six polls in Mackenzie riding. Twenty-two small polls remain to be reported.

One of his first duties after arriving in Victoria in 1894 was to take the old steamship Boscowitz to Port Simpson, from where he pushed into the Northern Interior. For a short period he was postmaster at Blaine, in 1902 was promoted to the position of fur buyer at Victoria. His success was such that in 1914 he was entrusted with the management of the British Columbia district. In 1921 he was sent to Vancouver, remaining there until his promotion, six years later, to chief factor and fur trade commissioner, with headquarters at Winnipeg.

The Northern Fur Trader, in an editorial at the time of Mr. French's retirement in December, 1930, paid him the very highest tribute, referring to him as "a great Canadian who had well earned his laurels," and forecasting that he would still make great contributions to whatever community he decided to choose for his home.

His retirement marks the passing from business life of a man who is entitled to more than a passing salute. To those who understand the wide gulf between the position where Mr. French began in his company's service and the high office from which he now retires, the

Canada's Great War Ace Is on Indefinite Visit to the Old Land

Air Marshal W. A. Bishop, V.C., Reaches England And Expects to Spend Some Time With Canadian Airmen Overseas

SOMEWHERE IN SOUTHERN ENGLAND, Sept. 23 (CP)—Air Marshal W. A. (Billy) Bishop, V.C., Canada's ace flyer in the last war with a record of seventy-two German planes, arrived from Canada today in the flying boat Clare on a visit to England at the request of the Air Ministry.

The hero of the air battles of the last war is going to visit the new generation of Canada's men with wings stationed in the United Kingdom and also hopes to see the Canadian troops.

"It was a perfect trip over," he said after alighting from the great air liner. "Not a bump. I slept fifteen hours."

"You are taking quite a chance coming here in the blitzkrieg," the Canadian Press reporter pointed out.

"What about you?" came the retort from the man whose disdain for danger made him one of the immortals of Canada's fighting airmen in the last war. He said his stay in Britain will be "quite indefinite." Almost immediately after landing he entered a car for London.

"Everything at home is fine," he said. "We're working our heads off night and day." He hailed the Royal Canadian Air Force cadet plan as an "excellent idea," and predicted "it will have a great response."

It is understood the trip of the airman was so secret even the Air Ministry did not know he was arriving. The Clare made a near-record Botwood-Foxes crossing. Capt. John P. Kirton bringing her across in eleven hours flat.

Air Marshal Bishop's most pressing, immediate wish is to see Sqdn. Ldr. Ernie McNab and the men of his Royal Canadian Air Force Fighter Squadron, who are carrying on the old Bishop tradition of hitting the Huns hard.

Then he wants to see the R.C.A.F.'s Army Co-operation Squadron, the R.A.F.'s All-Canadian Squadron, and the strong forces of the Canadian Active Service Force now in Britain.

NO FORMAL VISITS There will not be any formal visits. Air Marshal Bishop is determined to see the men, particularly the sky warriors, at their everyday task and talk to them man to man in the jargon of the fighting airman.

He drove to London through countryside comparatively unscathed by Hitler's air war in a car piloted by Mrs. Mary Duggan, a South Coast town.

"Imagine my surprise," said Air Marshal Bishop, "when I discovered that she had driven for me in the last war. We got in a traffic jam once and she said, 'Oh, if only there was an air raid, I could get through this fast.' But there wasn't."

"I hate people who talk behind my back."

"So do I—especially at the pic-

Carried Mail Here Twenty Years Ago

Representative of the modern in air transportation, reading from left, Stewardesses Margaret Johnston, Olive Hamilton and Margaret Tolosano, of United Air Lines, learned all about airplane styles of 1920 last week on the eve of the twentieth anniversary of their company's coast-to-coast airway. The plane shown is the famous Boeing B-1, now a museum piece at Seattle's Boeing Field, which carried mail between Victoria and Seattle twenty years ago.

TALK ABOUT WEST COAST

Albertans Interested in Visiting Vancouver Island In Coming Winter

George Willis, publisher of The Vancouver Island Tourist Guide, is at present traveling in Alberta, where he is showing color motion pictures of Vancouver Island, distributing his "guide" and taking pictures of harvesting scenes in the Prairie province for showing on the Coast later. He states prospects look "very good for visitors coming to Victoria this winter, as merchants are doing fair business."

"If the farmers can get cash for their wheat, we can expect a good fall and winter tourist trade. A film I made of harvesting activities for the Alberta 'Wheat Pool' was shown by four field men with projecting machines, together with pictures I furnished of Vancouver Island. Mr. Davidson, field manager for the Pool, stated Vancouver Island has received considerable publicity, the picture being enjoyed wherever exhibited."

"The Alberta Wheat Pool arranged to take me over some of the territory in the vicinity of Lethbridge on this present trip. On one ranch a picture I took shows $60,000 worth of equipment taking off a bumper crop of wheat. As there was no room in elevators for the wheat, it was piled up like huge haystacks in the field. In one pile there were 30,000 bushels, about $15,000 worth in cash. This particular farmer has a 100,000 bushel crop."

"The boards of trade and commerce of Alberta are doing a fine job assisting me in getting pictures of the province. The Lethbridge Board of Trade supplied me with film to take pictures of the district, and the Calgary Board of Trade supplied film to make a picture of the city. Rev. G. A. Reynolds will officiate, and the Masonic burial service will be conducted by Camosun Lodge No. 60, A.F. & A.M. Interment will take place in the family plot at Royal Oak Burial Park in October."

TAKEN ABOARD STOLEN SLOOP

Juveniles' Venture Into Crime Ends Up in Nanaimo Police Court

NANAIMO, Sept. 23 (CP)—Two Nanaimo boys pleaded guilty in juvenile court here today to stealing the auxiliary speed Ann last Friday night, after taking $8 from a pupils' fund of the East Wellington School and robbing a woman resident of the district of between $5 and $6.

The youngsters were captured early Saturday morning after a speedboat chase. They attempted to escape from the Ann, a thirty-foot sloop owned by Dr. C. C. Browne, by diving overboard and swimming for shore, but were overtaken.

Police were put on the boys' trail by their failure to return with a hired rowboat which was subsequently discovered at the Nanaimo Yacht Club, where the absence of the Ann was noted.

With the consent of their parents the boys pleaded guilty to all three charges, including the robbery of the East Wellington woman, who allegedly was tied up after being threatened with a toy pistol.

The pair purchased a quantity of gasoline and supplies at Anderson's Boatshop, where they rented the rowboat. Magistrate Beaver-Potts will deliver sentence tomorrow morning.

ASK REPORT ON SALMON IN BAY

Unusual Numbers of Dying Fish Reported in Cowichan Bay Region

Official report on the reason for the death of considerable numbers of salmon, washed up on the shores of Cowichan Bay, was being asked yesterday by the Provincial Fisheries Branch from experts of the marine biological station at Nanaimo.

Residents in the area and boating parties spending the week-end in Cowichan waters reported the fish were being washed up in a dead and dying condition, from some cause that was not immediately apparent. The spent fish are often found in fresh waters, after spawning, but under circumstances different than reported.

George J. Alexander, deputy commissioner of fisheries, collected a number of such reports and laid the circumstances before the marine biological station's staff for examination. The official explanation is expected after experts have examined the fish.

Joint Appeal Being Issued For Campaign

Arrangements have been completed for a joint appeal for the Community Chest and the Victoria Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society. The campaign will take place between November 4 and 11.

This announcement was made yesterday by F. E. Winslow, president of the Community Chest, and General J. G. Austin, president of the Red Cross Society. In doing so they commented on the fact that plans had previously been made for separate appeals, but it was felt that the plan for a joint appeal, following the lines of last year, would meet with general approval.

"We realize that the public has been asked to assist many worthy causes during the last year, and we hope, by combining these two appeals at this time, to secure not only adequate support for our welfare agencies, twenty-two in number, but to realize a very substantial sum for the work of the Red Cross Society," said the heads of the two organizations.

Rumania Watched by Soviet and Held by Nazis Has Troubles

Shorn of Its Feathers, Unhappy Balkan Nation Still Is "Goose That Lays Golden Eggs" Wanted by the Dictators in Europe

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Sept. 23 (By Wireless).—The real power in Rumania now belongs to the Inner Cabinet, or Politburo, of seven persons—General Ion Antonescu, the military dictator; Horia Sima, the Iron Guard leader; General George Petroviciu, Minister of the Interior; Luca Sturza, Minister of Foreign Affairs; Prof. Mihail Antonescu, Minister of Justice; Prof. George Leon, Minister of Economy, and George Cretianu, Minister of Finance.

Thus a lot of nonsense has been published abroad—and talked here—about the preponderance of the Iron Guard in the Cabinet, and even about the strong German pressure upon General Antonescu to institute a virtual Iron Guard regime. Much of this talk is Iron Guard propaganda for the purpose of convincing everybody of German backing.

What the Germans want most in Rumania is the restoration of order and confidence, to increase production and facilitate transport. It is more than doubtful whether the Iron Guard, or indeed anyone except General Antonescu, could accomplish this at the present time. On the other hand, there are obvious reasons why General Antonescu must and should co-operate with the Guard and adjust his policies to German requirements.

MASTER OF HOUSE
No one who knows General Antonescu doubts that he is determined to be the master in his house, and the composition of the "Inner Cabinet" leaves little uncertainty as to where the balance of power lies. Of its seven members, only Sima and Sturza can be considered as Guardists. Professor Antonescu is the general's nephew, and Leon and Cretianu are non-political experts, who never have evinced Guardist sympathies.

General Petroviciu was not, as reported recently, connected solely with the legal branch of the army. He was a regular officer who won laurels at the Battle of Marasesti and until six years ago commanded an infantry division. At that time it was a rule in the Rumanian army that ranking officers must take turns in court-martial duty, and the general was called upon to act as the prosecutor of the murderers of Premier Duca. Among the accused was Corneliu Codreanu, captain and founder of the Iron Guard.

Codreanu was acquitted. General Petroviciu's attitude toward Codreanu, I am informed, was not inspired by Guardist sentiments but by his own sense of duty and justice.

As Minister of the Interior, his position is second in importance only to that of General Antonescu. His under-secretary, Colonel Rostanu, prefect of police and head of the Security Department, and General Dobre, under-secretary for defence, are considered two of the strongest cards in General Antonescu's hand.

It is also noteworthy that General Antonescu's former command, the Third Division, was among the first to reach Bucharest after King Carol's abdication. General Antonescu's immediate task is the reorganization of the army, which he accomplished brilliantly as chief of the operations department of the general staff in happened with reason, that the goose might lay less heartily in captivity than in comparative freedom.

The Germans certainly don't want the Rumanian wolf to eat the goose. Therefore, one deduces that the purposes of the German "invisible garrisons" are twofold:

First, to protect Rumania; second, to exploit Rumania's natural resources to the utmost for Germany's benefit. But there is possibly a third reason, not yet very clear, but ever present in the careful German calculations.

Not only Rumania, but other lands may harken in coming months or even years with bitterness and woe to the doctrine of despair, or "hope for exploited masses"—whichever you care to term them—that are part of the Soviet wartime policy no less than the more old-fashioned method of grabbing what can be grabbed while the grabbing is good. This, in less than a year, has added millions of square miles and more than twenty million inhabitants to the U.S.S.R.

The SNAPSHOT GUILD

TWO IN A PICTURE

This picture is better because it has a natural "center of interest"—the girl's face. When you have two or more subjects in a picture, make one more prominent than the others.

TWO people often yield a better picture than just one—especially in the summer time, when lots of young romances are budding. However, to make these pictures most effective, there are a few points you want to keep in mind.

The first point is to make one of your subjects more prominent than the other. This keeps the interest from being divided, and it's easy to do.

Just have one of the subjects doing something, while the other watches. Then the attention will naturally go to the subject who is most active.

An interesting example of this is shown in the picture above. The girl, dribbling sand from her hand, attracts your eye first. Then, when your glance strays to the boy's face, you are immediately turned back to the girl's face, because he is looking in that direction.

There are some other good, instructive points in this picture. You will notice that the girl's head is somewhat higher in the picture space than the boy's head; also her face is more brightly lighted by the sun, while his face is mostly in shadow. All this helps to make the girl the centre of interest.

Every picture should have such a centre of interest. No doubt you remember seeing group pictures, such as a picture of a graduating class, in which each face was as prominent as the others. Pictures of that type are of course very useful as records, but they do not have the pictorial charm of an informal arrangement—because the "centre of interest" is lacking.

Naturally, when you're picturing a couple, or a larger group, you do not want to slight anyone. However, for best effect, you should make one more prominent than the others. Sometimes just a turn of the subject's head, or a slight change of your own position, will do it. And it's a valuable point to remember, because you'll be taking a lot of these pictures during the summer—they're the type of snapshot that adds interest to your album.—John van Oulder.

These men wanted information in a hurry from a man in Calgary—facts upon which an important business deal hinged. ## PERSONAL ITEMS and SOCIAL HAPPENINGS

Wedding Is Celebrated In Evening

Rev. A. E. Whitehouse, D.D., officiated at a largely-attended wedding, held in Metropolitan United Church on Saturday evening at 8.30 o'clock, when the principals were Ida M. Y. elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Stansfield, St. James Street, and Mr. Thomas Paul Leason, son of the late Mr. E. E. Leason, and Mrs. Leason, Chamberlain Street.

Mr. Edward Parsons presided at the organ, and prior to the service played many lovely selections. As the register was being signed, Miss Winifred Applegate sang "Thoughts Have Wings" most impressively.

A profusion of gladioli, asters and goldenrod, arranged by Mrs. Trotter, a friend of the bride, made an attractive background for the ceremony, and clusters of tiny flowers tied with white tulle marked the guest pews.

THE BRIDE

The bride was given away by her father, and wore a high-collared Elizabethan gown of ivory satin and lace. The fitted bodice was fashioned with long, pointed lace-covered sleeves, shirred on the yoke, and the full skirt and train were attached to the low-pointed waistline. The veil of illusion net, worn over her face, fell in soft folds to the end of the train from a coronet of satin and lace, and she also wore a gold cross and chain, and carried a bouquet of Rapture roses, white heather and fern tied with a bow of white illusion net.

The bride's sister, Miss Ruth Stansfield, in a princess frock of turquoise ribbon and net over laces, and Miss Frances Nute, in mauve, were bridesmaids. Their hats, mittens and shirred muffs matched their frocks, and on the muffs were imprinted sprays of purple heather. Frocks of rose satin, and coronets of satin and lace, were worn by the bridesmaids. The brides carried Colonial roses, tied with rainbow-hued streamers, and were Josephine Leason, niece of the bridegroom, and Geraldine Eastwood. Mr. Arthur Leason supported his brother, and the ushers were Messrs. Herbert and Robert Leason and Aubrey George.

AT THE RECEPTION

The reception was held at the home of the bridegroom's mother, where she was assisted in welcoming the guests by Mr. and Mrs. Stansfield. The bride's mother wore an aqua blue triple sheer dress with black accessories, and Mrs. Leason was dressed in wine cut velvet and matching accessories. Johanna Hill rosebuds and white heathes composed their corsage bouquets. Baskets of gladioli and dahlias were arranged in the drawing-room and dining-room; and during the reception the bride and groom stood beneath a floral archway. The cake of four tiers, surmounted by a miniature bride and groom, which had been used at a wedding twenty-seven years ago, and lent by a friend—centred the bride's table, surrounded by pink carnations and fern at the base, and at each end of the table were lighted white tapers.

ISLAND HONEYMOON

For a short honeymoon on the island, the bride left in a violet wool crepe dress and matching turban, a beige coat trimmed with lynx, black accessories and a corsage bouquet of rosebuds and white heather. Mr. and Mrs. Leason will take up residence at Cook Street.

Guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. G. Nicholson, Lady Smith; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Leason, Chemainus; Mr. and Mrs. Rex Huxford, Bamerton; Mr. Douglas Parsons, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. J. Pearson, Miss Helen Bockstall, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Dunaway and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Temple, all from Seattle.

ANNUAL POUND PARTY

The annual pound party of the Protestant Orphans' Home will be held on Thursday, October 3, and an invitation is extended to the general public to visit the Home on that day and to assist by bringing gifts of any kind.

Woolies Are Being Knitted For Sailors

Mrs. W. J. R. Beech, wife of the new senior naval officer at the Dockyard, Esquimalt, has succeeded Mrs. G. C. Jones as president of the Women's Auxiliary to the Royal Canadian Navy. Mrs. W. B. L. Holmes is the new vice-president and Mrs. R. P. Ponder, secretary. Mrs. A. M. Hope has been appointed wool convener.

The auxiliary, with a membership of thirty-five, was organized about a year ago, and has been working hard to supply wool comforts for the men of the Royal Canadian Navy. Meetings are held each month and a constant supply of woolies is sent to the reception headquarters at the Dockyard, for distribution in whatever direction the need lies.

In order to augment the wool fund, the auxiliary hopes to carry on its small monthly dances for the sailors, these having proved popular in the past.

Last month's supply of woolies consisted of sixty scarves, sixty pairs of socks, fifty-five sweaters, twelve pairs of mitts and gloves, sixteen pairs of wristlets and one helmet.

Miss P. Lock Is Bride of Mr. W. Levy

Autumn flowers were arranged in the chancel at St. John's Church and formed a pretty setting for the wedding which took place last evening, when Patricia Dorothy, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lock, North Quadra Street, and Mr. William Walter Levy, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Levy, 1028 Empress Avenue, were united in marriage by Rev. George Biddle, assisted by Archdeacon Robert Connell, who had officiated at the marriage of the bride's parents.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked lovely in her gown of white faille with an all-over embroidered flower design in chenille. The bodice, which emphasized a slim waistline, had short puffed sleeves, and was buttoned down the back, while two inset panels of white chiffon velvet commenced at the shoulders and joined below to a deep velvet band which fell in soft folds to the hemline. From the waist at the back a lovely full train of velvet was inset. Her finger-tip double veil was of sheerest tulle attached to a coronet of hand-made tulle flowers and orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, carnations and swastika.

Mrs. F. Crocker, as matron of honor, and Miss Amelia Levy and Marjorie Clarkson, as bridesmaids, were gowned alike in crisp net over tulle. In pink, turquoise and orchid, respectively. Their graceful full-skirted gowns were cut on princess lines with bodices emphasizing sweetheart necklines and short puffed sleeves. Forward-tilted hats of mohair were trimmed with tiny velvet bows and a cluster of flowers in shades to tone with their dresses. Their bouquets were composed of carnations, pink snapdragons and blue delphiniums tied with ribbons to match their gowns.

Mr. Albert Cliff was the best man and Mr. Albert (Buster) Lock and Mr. Gordon Levy were the ushers. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Samuel Barr sang "All Joy Be Thine," accompanied by Mr. Myers, who also played the wedding marches.

At Royal Oak
After the ceremony, a reception was held at Royal Oak Inn, which was manned with autumnal shrubs. Mrs. Lock received the guests in a Queen's blue dinner-dress crepe gown and picture-hat to match, assisted by Mrs. Levy in a black lace gown and black hat with ostrich tips. Both wore corsage bouquets of pink carnations.

HE GAVE THE BIGGEST TIPS

—but he got the poorest shaves

He was the town's most successful young businessman—a likeable, patriotic citizen. But Mr. St. J. never seemed to be able to get close to anybody... never understood why.

He failed to realize that we have to perspire to live—just as we must breathe. In warm, sticky weather, we perspire more—from a pint to three pints a day, even when we are sitting still. Left on the body, this sweat goes stale—decomposes. Then YOU have "B.O."

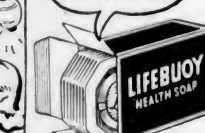

Careful people check "B.O." before it starts with Lifebuoy. Lifebuoy contains an exclusive deodorizing ingredient not found in any other leading toilet soap. Used in your daily bath, Lifebuoy stops "B.O."—its purifying lather washes away stale perspiration deposits. This season—play safe—with Lifebuoy.

SCIENTIFIC FACTS ABOUT B.O.

The adult skin has 2 to 3 million sweat glands which act as a cooling system, excreting from 1 to 3 pints of perspiration daily—even when we are sitting still. If perspiration is stopped, we would die from hyperpyrexia (heat stroke). Because much of the water in perspiration evaporates, we do not see it as it falls. Summer heat, nervous excitement, heavy clothes or warm rooms quickly decompose this moist deposit into a stale—cause offensive "B.O." (Body Odor).

Soldiers Entertained by Y.W.C.A. Club Girls

Fifty-nine soldiers from Work Point Camp were the guests of the Y.W.C.A. Club on Sunday afternoon at the Y.W.C.A. Prior to the tea hour, the entire party enjoyed an afternoon drive through the co-operation of Mrs. John Baxter and members of Chapter "I" of the P.E.O. sisterhood.

Greeting the guests were members of the girls' club assisted by Mr. and Mrs. John Baxter, Miss Dorothy Beech, girls' work secretary, and Rev. J. Herdman. Following the tea hour, group singing led by Miss Charlotte Crawford proved popular. Special musical numbers were contributed by Dr. and Mrs. Harry Johns and Miss Byrdie Elora. For the vocal solos and duets, accompanied were Mrs. C. C. Ward and Mrs. Elora Miss Dorothy Dickens, club president, presided during the afternoon.

Social and Personal Helping With Annual Sale

Luncheon Hostess

Mrs. Reed Paige Clark was hostess yesterday at a luncheon party at "Rimington," her home in the "Up-lands," in celebration of the final day of the racing season in British Columbia. The table decorations, the handiwork of Mrs. Charles E. Wilson, carried out the prevailing theme, and a miniature race track with horses and jockeys was particularly effective. A jockey statuette occupying the centre. Those present at luncheon were Mrs. E. P. Mulcahy, a sister of Mrs. Clark, who is here from the Virgin Islands; Mrs. W. Boulton, Mrs. F. Randall and Mrs. W. E. Thompson, all of Vancouver; Mrs. C. E. Wilson, Mrs. J. D. Benning, Mrs. J. Sutherland Brown, Mrs. Lennox Irving and Mrs. J. D. Hunter.

Musical for Artists

In compliment to the Australian tenor, Mr. Clement Q. Williams, and his gifted wife, Miss Edith Conley, pianist, both of whom are well known to concert and radio audiences here and in the Antipodes, Mrs. E. G. Finch Page entertained with an informal musical at her charming apartment, 1456 Beach Drive, on Friday evening. Mr. Williams delighted the guests with several folk songs, particularly interesting being some of the New Zealand Maori and the Australian aborigines. Miss Conley, who played Mr. Williams' accompaniment, also contributed one or two pianoforte solos, and others taking part in the impromptu programme were Miss Selma Reyes, the accomplished young Australian violinist, who is now living here, and Mrs. Hebban Gillespie, who played her accompaniment. Others invited to the affair included Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Cameron, Mrs. Walter Nichol, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Holloway, Mrs. Noel Page (Vancouver), Mrs. D. Talbot, Miss Una Calvert, Mrs. and Mrs. George Phillips, Mr. Dudley George, Mr. Richard Williams, Mr. David Oldham, Mr. Leslie Bott and Mr. John Bray. ## SMALL GROUPS OF PLANES IN ATTACK dropped a "Molotov breadbasket" over a northern suburb, but flames quickly extinguished fires started by bombs which spread out from it like a bursting skyrocket.

DROP BOMBS IN SOUTHEAST

Some of the early morning raiders, apparently unwilling to try London's anti-aircraft barrage, dropped their deadly burdens on towns in South-east England.

Subway stations were so crowded with those seeking shelter that it seemed all London was trying to get into there. Streets were particularly scarce in stations along Piccadilly. Many young women, wearing bright pyjamas under long coats, joined the sleepy-eyed lines.

The raiders opened the seventeenth consecutive night of raids by coming over in small groups.

The city's defenders, spurred by words of encouragement and optimism from the King, sent a hurricane of shells into the sky.

Guns tonight threw up thousands of shells along the light beams at what sounded like heavy German bombers. The explosion of distant bombs was heard above the incessant clatter of steel fragments raining down on Central London roofs.

To Londoners, who trooped into air-raid shelters like actors playing a grimly well-rehearsed part, it was another night of discomfort and little or no sleep.

REFLECTS CONFIDENCE

Reflecting the confidence spoken earlier in the day by the King, the Croydon Town Council, which was meeting when the night sirens sounded, decided to carry on after the mayor announced spotlights were on the roof.

Soon after sunset, warning sirens heralded the approach of the raiders following three thwarted daylight attacks on the capital and a series of savage counter-attacks by the Royal Air Force on German invasion ports and inland industrial establishments.

The last previous alarm sounded at twilight when German planes roared over the heart of the city only to be scattered by British fighters. Bombs fell in Western London during the second attack of the day, just after midnight. The Nazis, crossing the coast from three directions, failed to reach the city in their first foray soon after dawn.

Shortly after the twilight alert, a large flight of heavy German planes swept directly over London, but the raiders were not visible in the overcast sky.

BIGGEST BOMBER ESCAPES
British fighters chased off these attackers as they did two others during the day, one of which was paced by a "monster" bomber bigger than anything yet seen over England. The earlier raiders, coming in four separate waves across the coast, were declared turned back before reaching London.

The big mystery bomber, a four-engine craft with a tremendous wing spread, came in over the Kent Coast.

"I was astonished by the huge size of its wing span," said a police officer who followed its course through binoculars. "Accompanying Messerschmitts were dots-by-comparison."

British Hurricanes and Spitfires took out after this group and when last seen the pack still led by the giant bomber, was reported heading out over the Channel.

A lone raider dropped twelve high explosive bombs in a southeast coast town. They fell in a working class district, damaging small houses and injuring about twenty persons.

PROVIDE SAFE LANDING

An Exchange Telegraph dispatch said that when one British airman bailed out of a fighter plane over the Thames Estuary, two Spitfires circled him continuously until he made a safe landing.

"This operation was necessary because an enemy machine was seen to dive after the parachuting airman and a burst of machine-gun fire was heard faintly," said the dispatch.

One of the Messerschmitts was brought down by a Spitfire fighter beside the Poolestone Harbor, and the watchers saw the pilot of the machine bail out and float toward the earth north of Dover.

Another raider was blown to pieces when Nazi planes attempted a raid in force on a south-coast port last night. It crashed with its dead crew near the Sussex Coast.

RESCUED BY SOLDIERS

Shore watchers who saw one of the raiders shot down at sea said that the pilot was rescued by soldiers, who swam out from shore and kept him afloat until a fishing boat picked them up.

A Spitfire, with guns blazing and roaring through the air at about 4000 miles an hour, had sent the plane, a Messerschmitt 109, crashing into the water. It threw up a huge column of spray.

Raiders which kept thousands of families in shelters all Sunday night were reported somewhat more intense over London than the attacks of Friday or Saturday night.

A communiqué acknowledged that there had been a "number of casualties," including some deaths, and that London again was the principal target, although bombs fell in several coast towns as well as inland.

DAMAGE WIDELY SCATTERED

Damage in London was reported as widely scattered, homes and industrial buildings being hit.

The raiders continued their recent tactics of coming singly. Many bombs from so high that their motors hardly could be heard. Other planes glided in low, piercing the heavy anti-aircraft barrage and dumping their bombs from only a few hundred feet above their targets.

One German plane was reported to have exploded in midair when hit by anti-aircraft fire.

I'LL WAIT FOR YOU

By MARGARET GORMAN NICHOLS
(Copyright 1940 by Margaret Gorman Nichols)

CHAPTER XXX

"Thanks for the new lease of life, Norman," Edwina was gaining control of herself. "Strange, I've always thought myself to be capable and self-sufficient. I didn't think I'd ever really need anybody. But if you'll stick by me and see me through this... I was going to say I'd do something for you. But I can't now, I used to pay back parties. Anyway, I'll be the hardest-working part-time typist you ever hired."

Her voice broke and the tears spilled over her lashes. "I know a man hates to see a girl cry."

"And I never saw a girl have a handkerchief when she was going to cry. Here's mine. Cry all you want and then I'll take you home. You're going to sleep for two days and then you and I are going to give this town the biggest news it's had in years."

A few minutes later she found him on the veranda. With his hands thrust deep into the pockets of his dinner jacket, he was standing at the lower end of the veranda where, in the daytime, a fat little bird came to frolic in its bath.

"Norman, tell me this before you take me home. Where did you learn to arrange other people's lives so well? You've always had everything you wanted. Where did you learn the secret of thinking for other people? You're a riddle, too. To most people, I imagine, you're a good-looking, rich, successful young man flitting from girl to girl."

"I've learned things this Summer, too, Edwina. I've learned it's easier to push somebody else over a high fence than to get over it yourself alone."

Any, dignified, capable, good-humored, waited for them in her car outside the Burke home.

Edwina said, "I have a lot to tell you, darling. And she said it with humility and gratitude while Norman stood beside her. 'If you hear a strange noise, it's a leaf of my life turning over. Tomorrow I'm going to begin on a nice clean white page.'"

Any smiled and shook her head. "Edwina, is this your unique way of telling me, after getting me out of bed at this hour, that you are going to marry this young man?"

"No, darling. I'm not going to marry him even for his money." She turned to Norman. "Good night. You look dead tired. I'll explain to Any I don't mind the explanation. But come back after I've slept for two days."

In response to public demand, powerful lights had been installed at the water-filled quarry, making night swimming possible.

To the gay and colorful scene Norman came two nights after the newspaper announcement of Edwina's generous gift to the city, an announcement which had resulted in a flood of telephone calls and telegrams of congratulation to a calm and rested and no longer tormented girl. Norman stood on the green slope which descended to the water and smiled at the merry capers of boys swinging from ropes.

Tarzan fashion, before dropping into the deep water. When he saw Carol, slim and tanned, in a blue satin bathing suit, her hair drying in the warm night wind, he hesitated before going to her and once, as he walked toward her, stopped briefly as if he had changed his mind.

To her he was a man appearing out of a dream, a wish fulfilled.

"Hello, Carol. Are you alone?"

"Yes, I am." Trying to be casual and natural she said, "I usually see someone out here I know, but tonight everybody apparently had other ideas. Alan was coming for me, but Mrs. Christian, who is in charge of the bathroom, just came out to tell me that Alan phoned he isn't coming. Something came up unexpectedly at the office and he's with a client. Aren't you going for a swim?"

"I didn't bring a suit. I was over at the club and heard about the new lights. Just drove over."

How to be casual and natural, how to be with him as she had been in the beginning, how to say lightly, "Still a lonely man?" or "Won't you sit down, Norman?" But the words stuck in her throat and her heart hammered. Why didn't he go and leave her with all her fine resolutions that she was for Alan and he for her? If Norman lingered, those fine resolutions would crumble to nothing and she would climb to dangerous heights again.

The years ahead, safe years, would be unimportant and only a moment, this little moment, would matter. What had happened tonight and that bright day when she knew she loved him dissolved so that it was as if they had come from that day to this night in an instant and nothing had changed.

Love was wonder and magic, not reason and good sense.

When he sat down beside her and their glances met, she felt as she had felt once before, that he could read her thoughts, stripping her of all her pretenses and "weak" resolutions. The dark eyes which could be so gay, which laughed when he laughed, nevertheless, were knowing eyes. She thought: I love your frown and the sound of your voice, Norman. I want your touch again.

But where is Edwina tonight? My father said, after reading the paper the other night that no one could be truly bad who was truly unselfish. But Edwina is giving everything away because she has you. If I had you, I'd feel that I had everything in you—that you, just you, would be all I'd ever want.

NO TIME TO PLAY

The storm was increasing in violence. Some of the deck fittings had already been swept overboard, and the captain decided that the time had come to send up a signal of distress.

Hardly had the rocket burst over the ship when a solemn-faced passenger stepped up to the bridge.

"Captain," he said, "I'd be the last man on earth to cast a damper on anyone, but it seems to me that this is no time to let off fireworks."

PREVENTION OF THE GREAT HUMAN PLAGUE—MENTAL ILLS

Just a few years ago tuberculosis—consumption—was considered a fatal disease; the patient might last for months or even a year or two, but the disease would surely carry him off. Similarly with diabetes and pernicious anemia. Today, tuberculosis stands well down the list of the causes of death and to have tuberculosis is no longer a death warrant.

Similarly with diabetes and pernicious anemia. As long as diabetics take their insulin regularly they are safe, and patients with pernicious anemia have but to use liver and liver extract to keep alive.

What appears to be an even harder problem is the prevention and cure of mental ailments, yet Dr. Frederic H. Leavitt, Philadelphia, as guest editor of The Medical World, states this "should be tackled just as tuberculosis was tackled and overcome. Tuberculosis, the great white plague, was Captain of the Legion of Death. Through a campaign of education in acquainting the general public with knowledge of the cause, prevention and treatment, tuberculosis in many places has dropped from first to fifth place as a cause of death."

The same results may be obtained in the prevention of mental ailments is the belief of the medical profession. It can be accomplished by a campaign of educating the general public as to the cause, prevention and treatment.

Dr. Leavitt points out the excellent results by educating the public about mental ailments obtained in the treatment of that "great destroyer" of the minds of young men and women—dementia precox or persistent dream state—particularly by the treatment with insulin and metrazol shock.

Perhaps the greatest advance in the prevention of mental ailments is that the family physician now recognizes the early signs of mental disorder, such as behavior symptoms, which, if corrected early, will prevent the growing boy or girl becoming a mental patient. The family physician advises the parents to get the boy and girl to play more and mix with others so that there will be little or time for "day dreaming."

TOOK THE HINT

The general was fond of putting on his oldest clothes and taking an early morning walk in the park.

It was thus that he was seen by young Jones, a very young recruit, who, very confident in his new uniform, approached the general, patted him on the back and said:

"Why don't you join the army? You'd be far better off."

Later in the day, when walking along a corridor of the War Office, the general—in full uniform—again met Jones.

With a twinkle in his eye he stepped smartly up to the dumb-founded recruit, and said: "I've joined!"

B.C. DOUKHOBOR AREAS QUIETED

Demonstration Parade Saturday Dispersed Quietly On Request

Quiet has been restored in Doukhobor areas of the Interior, and no fresh disturbances occurred there over the week-end, headquarters of the Provincial Police reported yesterday. Members of two separate groups who joined the demonstration parade dispersed outside of Grand Forks on Saturday and went quietly to their homes.

Though four arrests had been made in the area, they were in connection with failure to register under the national registration scheme and apart from the demonstration itself. The demonstration on Saturday was believed in protest against regulations that were not generally understood.

A party of sixty of the Sons of Freedom from Gilpin on Saturday marched towards Grand Forks, B.C., joined by 130 other Doukhobors. The parade was met two miles outside the city by the Grand Forks detachment of the Provincial Police, and dispersed peacefully on request.

Yesterday all was quiet in the Doukhobor areas, headquarters of the force were advised.

Catholic Women Plan Convention On September 26

The annual diocesan convention of the Catholic Women's League will be held on Thursday, September 26, at the invitation of the Oak Bay Subdivision, given last year during the convention at Nanaimo. All sessions will be held in the auditorium of St. Ann's Academy. The convention-Mass will be celebrated at 10 a.m. in the Convent Chapel, followed by the morning session, when reports of the delegates from the ten subdivisions on Vancouver Island will be presented. The luncheon interval will be followed by the afternoon session, beginning at 2 o'clock, when further business and discussions will take place, the diocesan president, Mrs. Blair Reid, presiding.

At 6 p.m. the convention banquet will be held in the private dining-room of Spencer's; and following benediction in the Convent Chapel at 7:15, the evening session will be held, with special speakers.

All members of the Catholic Women's League are cordially invited to attend the convention, and the evening session will be open also to interested friends.

YOUR BABY'S FIRST VEGETABLES AND FRUITS

New Process Explained

Radical changes in baby feeding methods are taking place, due to the development of homogenized fruits and vegetables, a recently published booklet on infant care states. Stress is also laid on the health importance of earlier solid food feeding. Babies as young as six weeks were successfully fed homogenized fruits and vegetables, in tests conducted in Laboratories and clinics—direct result of which is the recommendation by many doctors that homogenized vegetables and fruits be included in the diets of three-month-old babies—often even younger—as protection against nutritional anemia.

Other important points covered in this booklet are: the speed with which homogenized solids can be digested; their easier digestibility; and their higher nourishment value.

Mothers in step with the times will welcome the valuable information contained in the illustrated booklet, entitled, "Your Baby's First Vegetables and Fruits," and LIBRARY of Chatham, Ontario, exclusive conductors of Homogenized Baby Foods—have made it available on written request. If you ever doubt, check LIBRARY'S HOMOGENIZED BABY FOODS and LIBRARY'S name.

Consult your doctor about feeding your baby with Homogenized Vegetables and Fruits. LIBRARY'S
